POPULISTS TO ARGUE MATTER

Committee Works All Night On Resolutions And Then Leaves Out Money Plank.

AFFAIR CALLS FORTH DISCUSSION

New Jersey Man Elected Permanent Chairman After Plan Of Nebraska Delegation Was To Make Temporary Officers Permanent.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

St. Louis, Mo., April 3.—The platform which was submitted to the Populists' convention was formally completed at daylight, after an all-night session of the committee on resolutions.

New Jersey Man

George A. Hommecker, New Jersey, was made permanent chairman of the convention after a motion made by a Nebraska delegate to make the temporary organization permanent had been defeated.

The Trusts

The plank in the platform on trusts demands that the government take control of the railroads and all public utilities which in their nature are monopolies.

Government Function

As prepared by the committee the financial plank has declared that the issuing of money is a function of the government alone and that it should not be delegated to any corporation or individual.

Trouble Comes

When the report of the resolutions committee was read Tibbles of Nebraska charged that an important part of the money plank adopted by the committee had been neglected.

Delay Report

Much confusion immediately resulted and the matter was finally referred to a special committee who report this afternoon.

Uncle Sam—Gosh! That's not a revolution—only a Presidential campaign in Cuba.
The Cuban Presidential campaign will be a very fierce one.—News Item.

DOES STEPHENSON DESIRE TO BE CHOSEN ONCE MORE?

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 3.—There is much discussion in political circles is indulged in as to the Wisconsin man who will be elected by the next legislature to succeed Isaac L. Stephenson of Marinette, as United States Senator. Already there are three announced candidates. In the field, one unannounced but genuine candidate, and several who are mentioned either as having their eyes on the job or as excellent men to send to the senate.

S. A. Cook of Neenah, W. H. Hatton of New London and F. E. McGovern of Milwaukee are formally announced. W. D. Connor of Marshfield and J. J. Esch of La Crosse are understood to be looking on and ready to jump in, and Senator Stephenson without formal announcement is genuinely a candidate for his friends are already circulating petitions asking him to run for another election.

These petitions are said to be considered by the sage of Marinette as necessary before he will be able to go back on his declaration of just a year ago to the effect that if elected to fill out the unexpired term of Senator Spooner he would not seek another election.

Frequently in the senatorship discussion the name of John M. Whitehead is mentioned with favor. When a few days ago a Milwaukee paper presented a report that the Janesville senator would not be a candidate, sincere expressions of regret were heard at the capitol. It is becoming more and more apparent that feeling is getting earnest for more conservatism and less frenzy in politics.

This feeling is strong even among those who favor giving Senator La Follette all the advantage he can get out of a solid delegation from Wisconsin to the national convention.

This feeling is illustrated in the reception which met the recent United States supreme court decision against the Minnesota railroad rate law. While a good deal of apprehension was noticed as to how seriously the decision would affect the Wisconsin commission, on every hand was the opinion expressed that the highest tribunal of the land acted wholesomely in laying a restraining hand upon the extremes to which some state legislatures have gone.

MUCH INTEREST IN WRESTLING MATCH

Hackenschmidt And Gotch Will Wrestle For International Championship.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Ill., April 3.—Tonight, in the big amphitheater at the Chicago stockyards known as Dexter's Pavilion, George Hackenschmidt, the world renowned Graeco-Roman champion, will contest for the world's catch-as-catch-can wrestling title with Frank Gotch, the American champion. The bout has attracted attention on both sides of the Atlantic and should prove the choicest tid-bit that has been offered followers of the wrestling game in years.

In view of the fact that conflicting statements have been made regarding the conditions under which the men are to wrestle it may be stated that Graeco Roman rules are not to govern, as has been reported, but that the bout will be straight catch-as-catch-can style, with the strangle hold barred. The conditions call for a twenty four foot ring, elevated four feet. Two judges will officiate besides the referee. The purse offered is of $10,000, sixty per cent, of which will go to the winner and forty per cent, to the loser.

Both men are reported in the very best of condition. Gotch recently put in a month of hard work at his town farm, and since then has been in daily training to keep in condition. Hackenschmidt is an athlete who needs little training, being temperate in his habits and always in condition to appear on the mat at an hour's notice.

While Hackenschmidt is a strong favorite, it is doubtful whether he will find Gotch so easy to pin to the mat as many think. It is true that his victory over Tom Jenkins, on the occasion of his visit to the United States several years ago, would lead to the belief that he will be the winner in tonight's contest, but it should be borne in mind that in the last year or two Gotch has been steadily improving. Hackenschmidt has kept himself in good condition during a corresponding period, but it is possible that more or less continuous engagements in the London music halls and tours throughout the British provinces may not have increased his speed and stamina to the extent of making him altogether invincible.

It is this phenomenal speed, perhaps more than anything else that makes the Russian wrestler so great an attraction. Often he appears to take big chances by getting to work at once, whether there is an obvious opening or whether there is not. But those who have seen Gotch at work recently assert that his competitor will not lead him to any appreciable extent in the matter of quickness. Altogether there is every reason to believe that while the foreigner is likely to retain his title as champion, he may not do so without a struggle which he will remember for a long while after the match.

Should the American wrestler succeed in defeating his opponent, he will certainly have much of which to be proud, for Hackenschmidt has engaged in something like three hundred and forty matches of more or less importance, often against men considerably bigger than himself, without having a single fall recorded against him. Whenever his opponents have endeavored to wear him out by a sheer dead application of avoirdupois, the Russian's marvellous agility has more than offset their weight.

In nearly every respect, but particularly in the matter of long experience at the game, the Russian appears on paper to have some advantage over the American competitor. Nevertheless, the sport loving public of the entire continent hopes, rather than expects, to see Gotch, the Iowa farmer, tear the half legendary veil from the mighty Russian ring master in the arena tonight.

The demand for seats indicates that will gather about the arena will be as large as ever witnessed a sporting or athletic event in this city. Every seat commanding a view of the paded platform will be occupied. Many delegations are arriving from out of town, some from Milwaukee, from Indianapolis, St. Louis, from cities throughout Iowa and one considerable party has put in anappearance from New York city.

DR. HALE REACHES 86 ANNIVERSARY

Chaplain of the United States Senate Celebrates His Birthday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—Rev. Dr. Edward Everett Hale of Boston, chaplain of the United States Senate, was eighty-six years old today. He celebrated the day quietly, though he was kept pretty busy receiving the congratulations of countless friends and admirers. Dr. Hale continues in good health, and physically and mentally he appears to be as vigorous as he was a decade ago.

Dr. Hale long ago established his reputation as one of America's brightest literary lights. He can look back with pleasure to warm personal friendships that he enjoyed with Longfellow, Emerson, Lowell and other New England literary celebrities of a generation ago. He also knew most of the public men of half a century ago, including Webster, Lincoln and others.

Dr. Hale's most famous book is "The Man Without a Country." He has been a minister of the South Congregational (Unitarian) Church in Boston for more than fifty years. He learned to write shorthand when a boy, and still writes it. He believes he could still do a fair day's work as a journeyman printer in an office that is not too up-to-date. He has two children who have made marks for themselves, Edward Everett Hale, Jr., a college professor, and Ellen Day Hale, a successful artist.

MANY PILGRIMS GO TO THE HOLY CITY

Approach of Holy Week Brings Many Visitors to The City of Rome.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Rome, April 3.—The approach of Holy week finds Rome rapidly filling with pilgrims representing the Roman Catholic church throughout the world. Owing to the celebration of the papal sacerdotal jubilee this year the number of pilgrims is expected to be the largest in many years.

A big pilgrimage is organized to come from France, and to its members the Pope will deliver an address concerning the conditions of the Church in France. Another pilgrimage, large in size, is now on its way from the United States, and to it the Vatican authorities will pay special attention. Still other pilgrimages are expected from Germany, England, Austria, Hungary and other countries of Europe.

On account of these pilgrimages Holy week will assume unusual splendor in the Eternal City, because the Pope will himself officiate in the Sistine Chapel, and Cardinal Rampolla in the Vatican Basilica, of which he is the archpriest. It is expected that both shrines will be crowded with foreign visitors. In fact, there is already an unprecedented demand for tickets of admission.

TAKE UNUSUAL CARE IN GUARDING TAFT

Chicago Authorities Are on Watch for Any Attempt Against Secretary.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, April 4.—Secretary Taft arrives in a train at five o'clock this afternoon over a road the name of which is withheld by the authorities, who are taking unusual precautions to guard the city's guest.

SECRETARY TAFT IS IN WINDY CITY NOW

Reached There Early This Evening And Has Busy Forty Eight Hours Planned.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Ill., April 3.—Secretary Taft has a busy period of forty-eight hours before him, if he fulfills all the engagements mapped out for him by the Chicago reception committee. The Secretary of War arrives in the city early this evening from Columbus. He will be taken at once to the Auditorium, where he is to deliver an address on the Philippines at the annual banquet of the Baptist Social Union.

The moment he is through his speech he will be whisked over to the great dining hall of the Congress Hotel across the street, and will appear as chief guest of honor at the Appomattox Day banquet of the Hamilton Club. Mr. Taft's speech will be informal, and it is expected that perhaps he may overlook his vow now to talk politics in any of the "favorite son" States and that he may speak on the national situation.

Secretary Taft will have distinguished fellow speakers at the Hamilton Club banquet, Governor Wilson of Kentucky is to speak on "The South's Part in the Government of the Country," and Governor Fort of New Jersey, will respond to the toast, "Grant." It is a significant fact that the names of both of these governors have been mentioned in connection with the Vice Presidential nomination on the Republican ticket.

Tomorrow Secretary Taft will be entertained at a luncheon at the Press Club, and during the afternoon he will receive his friends and admirers at the Hamilton Club. He will close the day, according to present arrangements, with an address at a banquet to be given under the auspices of the Commercial Club.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

AtlantaGa., April 3.—There was an increased attendance at the sessions of this, the second day of the National Child Labor conference. The forenoon was devoted to informal talks among the delegates and to various features of entertainment arranged in their honor.

The regular programme was taken up this afternoon, when addresses were presented as follows: "Scholarships for Working Children," Homer Folk, New York; "Child Labor and Practical Education," O. R. Lovejoy, General Secretary of the National Child Labor committee; "Compulsory Education, the Solutation of the Child Labor Problem," Lewis W. Parker, of South Carolina.

Dr. Felix Adler, chairman of the national committee, is to deliver his annual address this evening, and other speakers will be Everett W. Lord, representing the New England States, and A. J. McKelway, representing the South.

BUSINESS BLOCKED BY THE DEMOCRATS

Democratic Minority In the House Continue Their Filibustering Tactics.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., April 3.—The filibustering tactics inaugurated yesterday by the democrats in the house continued today. Every attempt by the republicans to expedite business was met by obstructions and demands for a roll call, etc.

The house committee on rules today agreed to a program to break the existing filibuster. It provides for the passage of the deficiency appropriation bill now before the house without an intermediate motion and for dispensing with the first reading of the District of Columbia appropriation bill and it limits general debate on the district bill to two hours.

ENGLISH COLLEGES TO RACE TOMORROW

Oxford Cambridge Boat Race Takes Place on Thames River on Saturday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, April 3.—Tomorrow, for the sixty-fifth time, the crew of Oxford and Cambridge universities will engage in a contest for supremacy over the famous Thames course, from Putney to Mortlake. The public is manifesting the same lively interest in the event as in previous years. Today the banks of the Thames were lined with people to witness the final practice work of the two crews and to draw a line on their condition. Cambridge is a slight favorite in the betting, though Oxford has many followers willing to back their judgment with money. The race is fixed to start about 3:30 p. m. The distance is about four miles, and the best time is 18.47, made by Oxford in 1893, and equally by Cambridge in 1900.

WILL TEST THE LAW RELATIVE TO ROADS

Dane County Farmers Will Insist The Law To Be Lived Up To In That County.

Madison, Wis., April 3:—An important test case on the new county highway law, the passage of which by the last legislature was secured largely through the activity of Assemblyman Pliny Norcross of Janesville, is being started by farmers against the Dane county board of supervisors. The suit will take the form of a mandamus action seeking to compel the board to put the new law into force by adopting a plan or system of county roads, electing a county highway commissioner and making the stipulated appropriation and levy. William Gay of the town of Blooming Grove will be the plaintiff and each member of the county board will be named as a defendant. The case is of large importance all over the state, as many county boards refused to act upon the new law and by neglecting to take action virtually set the law aside. District Attorney Mason of Dane county advised the board here that the law is mandatory, but the board took no action. It is desired to get the case through the circuit court as quickly as possible so that the supreme court can get a chance at it in time for the county boards to act next November at the annual meetings. It will take some time to get the case decided and the appeal from the circuit court will go on the August term of the supreme court for final adjudication.

A. H. Hilberts of Chicago, who is clerk at the Grand Pacific in Chicago, is visiting the family of Louis Bottinger while that hotel is being repaired. His mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, is also visiting at the Bottinger home.

JURY FINDS CHARGE IS NOT SUSTAINED

Case of the State Versus Schultz and Klesiack Ended This Afternoon.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Milwaukee, Wis., April 3.—The case of Fred C. Schultz and Anthony Klesiack, charged with bribery, to the jury in the municipal court this afternoon following spirited arguments by Thomas E. Kearney for the defense and District Attorney McGovern for the state. Attorney Kearney did not hesitate in the course of his arguments to call Seidel and Strauss, upon whose testimony the state depended for the conviction of the defendants, grafters, bribers, hypocrites and liars. The jury brought in a verdict of not guilty.

ATTACHMENT WRIT FOR W. E. SLAWSON

Was Gotten Out and Served Today but Constable Dulin Could Find Nothing to Seize.

Pending the outcome of a suit to recover several months' rental on the building at 111 East Milwaukee street, owned by Dr. W. H. Palmer, a writ of attachment on the W. E. Slawson's livery property was secured in Judge Tallman's court today. When Constable W. E. Dulin arrived on the scene to serve the papers he found that the vehicles and harness and all but one horse on the premises belonged to outside parties. For some days past Mr. Slawson had been closing out his business with the idea in view of moving to Oklahoma. Most of his horses have been sold to other liverymen. He questions the terms of the bill for rent, claiming that he is charged for a month more than the actual time for which he has heretofore not settled.

In the same court tomorrow the action of Andrew P. Lie, by his guardian and next friend, Nicholas Hagen, against Albert H. Anderson will come up for trial. Lie, who is a minor, worked from April 1 to Oct. 1, 1907, as a farmhand, for the defendant, and accepted the sum of $48 in settlement. The next friend is not satisfied with the amount, claiming that the service was worth at least $138 and he has therefore brought suit for the difference—$90.

R. J. Richardson today secured a judgment of $13.07 against James Young. Bishop & Creech of Chicago brought action today against E. W. Miller for a liquor bill of $41.66 and the trial was set for May 4.

William and John McVicar have brought an action against Al Norris, with Frank L. Stevens, agent for his local property, garnisheed, to recover $27.02 alleged to be due on a plumbing bill. The case comes up on April 10.

RINGLINGS' CIRCUS WONDERFUL GROWTH

Opened In Chicago Last Night In Celebration of Their Silver Anniversary.

Twenty-five years ago last night Ringling Brothers gave their first performance on the public green at their home town, Baraboo, Wis. They had but one horse and their tent was a home-made affair. Now the great showmen employ 4,000 people, own 2,000 horses and maintain extensive quarters and shops at Baraboo, Wis., Bridgeport, Conn., and Stoke-on-Trent, England.

Last night they began their season of 1908 in the gigantic auditorium of the Coliseum in Chicago. The old days of the circus are passed. The road show which traveled by night across the country, set up its tents in the early dawn, gave its parade and free show and two-ring exhibits a day is a memory only. Railroad shows costing thousands of dollars to transport, making jumps of hundreds of miles from show town to show town, a staff of skilled employes who set up and take down the miniature city each day are now requisites of the canvas world. Janesville has many men who remember the old days of the wagon show. Some even worked with the Ringling Bros. twenty-five years ago. The opening of the mammoth circus, greater than P. T. Barnum ever dreamed of, in Chicago last night marks a new epoch in the history of circus life.

PILGRIMS TO THE PLASTER CURE HOME

Sheriff Fisher and Party Succeeded in Registering for April 16—Some Incidents of Trip.

Sheriff I. U. Fisher, his daughter, Mrs. Clara Dixon, and Mrs. Charles W. Brooks of Janesville, and Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Richard Welch and son, Mrs. James Murphy, and Miss Agatha Torpey, all of Footville, returned on an early morning train today from their trip to see "Dr." John Till, the plaster specialist. They went by way of Stillwater, Minn., driving overland 11 miles to the farmhouse of William Cloutier, located a half mile south of the village of Somerset, Wis., where Till makes his headquarters. On the way out they passed 32 rigs containing all the way from four to ten patients returning from the "dispensary." The liveryman told them that he now kept 60 horses—30 for the Till pilgrimages and 30 for the funerals of those who patronized the Stillwater doctors.

Upon arrival at the farm they found that the canny Cloutier had boosted the registration fee from 25 to 50 cents and was doing a land-office business at the farmhouse which has been converted into a temporary hotel. The new arrivals yesterday numbered 200. An attendant took the names of the Rock county people and told them to return for treatment on the morning of April 16. The preliminary trip was made necessary by the fact that Till pays no attention to correspondence, his actual work with those on hand requiring all of his time.

First it was rheumatism for which people sought the mysterious plaster cures. Now the throng includes sufferers with almost every known ailment from dyspepsia to tuberculosis. The air seemed surcharged with tales of miraculous cures. One of the Footville ladies who had been there on the previous day to receive a second treatment for quite another affliction, had incidentally recovered the full use of the fingers of a hand which she had been unable to close for over half a decade. One of the Janesville party on her previous trip had seen a young woman who had been feeble-minded almost since birth, playing the piano and entertaining people at the hotel.

Innumerable stories of Till's reputed mind-reading powers were told. He was said to have rebuked one patient for disobeying his injunction not to put her hands in cold water while the plasters were doing their work and to have returned her voluntary fee and $35 in addition so that she could temporarily give up washing clothes. Obeying Till's instructions, one of the patients who had taken a treatment and who had at one time been operated on for appendicitis, brought back the severed appendix preserved in a bottle of alcohol. When Till saw it, he is reported to have nodded sagely and to have ejaculated: "I thought so! It is a bit of chicken gut!" According to this Austrian "specialist" there is no such thing as appendicitis.

Some of the Footville people who registered for treatment on Wednesday were: Mrs. William Cory, Robert Reimer, Frank Giese, Charles Utzic, Mrs. Wells, and Mrs. Lowry.

Big Butter Contest

National Buttermakers' Association won as usual by users of DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATORS

On March 11th, 12th and 13th there was held at Minneapolis, Minn., the big annual butter scoring contest of the National Buttermakers' Association. 504 of the best buttermakers in the United States competed in this contest which makes the result especially interesting and important. The first prize was won by J. C. Post, Hector, Minn., with a score of 98 per cent; the second prize by E. O. Blomquist, Center City, Minn., with a score of 97½ per cent, and the third prize by G. P. Sauer, East Troy, Wis., with a score of 97 per cent. All three of these victorious buttermakers, of course, use De Laval cream separators. This contest, as has every similar contest held within the past sixteen years, shows a complete victory for butter made from De Laval separator cream. A clean sweep of all highest prizes was made by De Laval butter at the big National Dairy Show held in Chicago last October, as well as at sixteen of the more important state fairs of 1907. Going further back, De Laval made butter received the Grand Prize at the St. Louis World's Fair, as well as the Grand Prize at the Paris Exposition. A postal card will bring our handsome new catalogue illustrating and describing the new 1908 Improved De Laval machines in detail, and affording a complete education in the production of the finest quality cream for making prize winning butter.

RECORD SEASON RUN PREDICTED

OVER SIX THOUSAND ACRES UNDER CONTRACT.

75,000 TONS OF SUGAR BEETS

Biggest Year for the Rock County Sugar Company Is Expected This Summer and Coming Winter.

With over six thousand acres of land under contract and additional acreage to the amount of nearly a hundred a day coming in, it is safe to say that by planting time there will be between seven thousand and seven thousand five hundred acres of sugar beets under cultivation for the local factory. On an average of ten tons to an acre this would would mean seventy-five thousand tons and allowing two hundred pounds of sugar to the ton it would mean a total of fifteen million pounds of sugar will be manufactured at the Janesville factory this coming winter.

From All Over

Thus far there has been but a small percentage of the acreage located in Rock county. As far north as Westby, as far south as Elgin, Illinois, west to Prairie du Chien and eastward to Racine, Kenosha, and even to Zion City, beets will be grown for the home factory. The total amount of acreage will probably not exceed seventy-five hundred as this is about as much as the factory can accommodate with ease. It is expected that the planting season will open about May 1, but may be delayed a little later.

Making Changes

Many changes are being made at the factory to handle this immense run of beets. The lime kilns are being rearranged, extra pumps are being put in and the old ones overhauled. A double condenser is being installed, doubling the capacity in this direction. The measuring tanks are overhauled and enlarged and everything possible to make the factory shipshape is being attended to. A good sized force of men are employed there and will probably be busy all summer.

Large Increase

Last year the total acreage was 4300. Over in Racine county they have taken up beet culture with a vim. Last season one hundred and thirty-five acres were grown on the J. I. Case farm, yielding some fifteen tons to an acre and this season they have contracted for 230 acres. It has been the same in other localities and Manager Osburn looks for the most prosperous year in the history of the factory.

LAST WEEK SHOWED DECIDED INCREASE

Tobacco Situation Looks Much Improved Just at Present Over Past Three Months.

The tobacco crop probably moved more rapidly during the week than any time since the market opened, and this too at prices that average lower than those previously paid. The bulk of the recent sales do not rise much above the 6-cent mark, which will permit the tobacco to be sold for export or scrap purposes, and the growing districts are pretty thoroughly ridden by buyers ready to take over unlimited quantities at those figures. The buyers of the American Cigar Co. are in the field, as well as representatives of the stogie and scrap manufacturers, which, altogether, is fast absorbing the crop that is already better than half gone. Sales coming to notice are:

Thos. Moore, 10a at 6&2c.
Elias Saunders, 10a at 5&2½c.
Mrs. O. P. Saunders, 12a at 5&2c.
L. B. Crandall, 8a at 6½c.
C. E. Robinson, 6a at 5½&2c.
D. L. Earle, 4a at 5½&2c.
M. Mumland, 4½a at 7, 6&2c.
J. McNally, 8a at 5&2c.
C. H. Gerhart, 5a at 5c.
Geo. Noyes, 6a at 6½&2c.
H. Saunders, 5a at 4½&2c.
Flarity & McGrane, 6a at 5½&2c.

The deliveries keep pace with the needs of the warehouse forces at the packing points, where the work of handling is progressing rapidly. Help, however, is reported scarce at some points.

The market for cured leaf continues dull. A few transactions are reported but at prices that do not furnish much encouragement to holders of this stock.

So far but little has been done towards the laying of the plant beds, which will be next in order.

The shipments out of storage reach about 1407 cases from this market to all points for the week.

Now that the time for laying the plant beds for another crop has arrived, the warning printed in this column a few weeks ago relating to the unreliability of seed saved last season appears very timely. Growers are finding out that a good deal of the seed they anticipate using for the coming crop will not germinate and they must look elsewhere for their supply. Those who have not already tested out their seed should lose no time in doing so. The successful tobacco grower is the one who looks carefully after all these details and is not caught, as many will be this season, without tested seed when the plant beds are to be laid. It looks as if the dealers in seed would find it difficult to fill all their orders this season.

A most surprising thing to the uninformed is the great disparity between the prices at which the present crop is now selling and those which prevailed a year ago for the 1906 crop. Then the theory on which was based the high figures was a prospective shortage of cigar leaf which failed to materialize, but buyers clambered over one another to get it just the same. This year when prices sagged to the lowest ebb buyers seemed afraid even to invest. The mistakes of a year ago have been costly ones but now that more courage has been injected into the market, there seems to be an opportunity at the bargain counter to replenish some of the losses sustained, which many are improving.

INCREASING IN THE DAILY ATTENDANCE

Revival Meetings at Cargill Memorial Church Grow Larger Day by Day.

The revival meetings now in progress at the Cargill Memorial church are increasing in attendance and interest, and much good is being accomplished. The services thus far have been largely devoted to the church in efforts to arouse an interest and prepare the organization for effective work.

The meetings this week are conducted by Evangelist Hart, and last evening the altar was crowded with people who expressed a desire to consecrate themselves to faithful service.

Inspiring music is a prominent feature at every service, and the meetings have already assumed the proportions of an old-fashioned revival, yet they are free from sensational features, as judgment and reason are appealed to more than emotion.

The speakers seem to recognize the fact that the day has passed when people can be frightened into the kingdom, as well as the more important fact that religion means more than feeling happy.

When the cripple stood at the pool, waiting for the waters to be troubled, he was waiting for a favorable time to enter and be cured. So there comes to people, trudging along the dusty highways of life's busy thoroughfares, a favorable time, now and then, to enter the gateway which leads to green pastures and fertile fields, and find rest and relief.

Such a time now presents itself to Janesville people. The doors of the churches are open wide, inviting all who will to enter and find in the new brotherhood a bond of fellowship.

The question of creed is lost in the broader question of personal salvation, and so the invitation goes out from the Cargill church to come in while the waters are troubled and share in the blessings.

The meetings will continue during a greater part of the month and the public is cordially invited to any of the services.

JOHNSON OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN.

Minnesota Governor's Headquarters Established in Chicago.

Chicago, Apr. 3.—What really are the headquarters of Gov. Johnson's candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the presidency were opened in the Grand Pacific hotel, Mr. Frederick B. Lynch, treasurer of the Minnesota Democratic state central committee, is in charge of the work. He said Thursday:

"Although Gov. Johnson has probably been more talked of in the magazines and the newspapers of the country in the last six weeks than any other man with the exception of President Roosevelt, the people do not yet fully understand the type of man he is and how he fits into the times; especially do I think that there is much for the Democrats of the country to learn in regard to Gov. Johnson's political availability. What we friends of Gov. Johnson desire to do is to drive home to the Democratic leaders and rank and file that we have in Gov. Johnson a man who can win. The Democrats of this country are very tired after 12 years of continuous defeat."

Gov. John Johnson.

SURPRISING PROFITS

THROUGH USING THE TUBULAR

The Increase in cream will be about 50 per cent over pan setting; 33 per cent over cans set in cold water; 25 per cent over patent creamers and dilution cans; and enough more than any other cream separator will yield to pay the owner of a Tubular Separator at least 10 per cent annual interest on the first cost of his machine.

The butter will be greatly improved. The Tubular Separator removes all impurities from the milk and cream, thus adding greatly to the appearance, flavor, keeping quality and selling price of the butter.

Calves do better on warm, sweet, skimmed milk, fresh from the separator, than on whole milk, or skimmed milk, which has stood twelve to twenty-four hours. Don't feed calves milk containing cream; oil meal is ten times as cheap and is just as good—and butter fat is worth money.

It is much easier to skim the milk during, or immediately after, milking, thus saving handling, storage room and the washing of many crocks, pans or cans.

Tubular Separators pay so well that those who have purchased them say the machine has paid for itself in from two months to one year.

TUBULAR STANDS ALONE.

The Tubular Separator stands alone. It is impossible to mistake another make for the Tubular.

Twenty years of invention and improvement have made it the simplest—most durable—easiest cared for—cleanest skimming separator known.

Exclusive and superior features are:

The Tubular Bowl: A light slender bowl, scarcely more than two inches in diameter, made up of the plain, tube-like bowl, the small bowl bottom, and the tiny removable dividing wall. Three light, simple pieces, easy to handle and clean.

The Bottom Feed: A very simple device, by which the whole milk flows into the bottom of the bowl instead of being dropped in at the top. It assists clean, fast skimming and makes the low supply can possible.

The Waist Low Supply Can: An improvement which makes it unnecessary to lift milk above the waist when feeding the separator, and prevents top heaviness in the machine.

Enclosed, Self-oiling Gears: Just lift a cap to get at or oil them. All enclosed, running in a mist of oil. Not an oil cup, oil hole, or oil tube on the machine. Perfectly dust-proof—absolutely safe—entirely self-oiling—instantly accessible. These gears require only one or two spoonsful of oil per week—use the same oil over and over, wasting none.

The Ball Bearing: The Tubular bowl has but one bearing—the ball bearing from which it hangs. A breath would almost turn it.

Mr. John J. Kvasnicka of Ixby, Minn., made $350 in one year with the Sharples Tubular. He writes as follows:

"I bought the Sharples Tubular Separator last June and I think it is a dandy. I got 10 cows and I made $350 in one year. I would not be without a separator."

You can learn all about this separator if you will write me for a booklet, or better still, call and see one when in Janesville.

AGRICULTURAL BILL PASSES

THE MEASURE CARRIES A TOTAL OF $11,508,806.

Further Business Stopped by Democratic Filibuster—Senate Confirms Appointment of Dr. Hill.

Washington, Apr. 3.—Carrying a total of $11,508,806, the agricultural appropriation bill was passed by the house of representatives late Thursday. During the debate a brief flurry was created by Mr. Harrison of New York, a Democrat, characterizing as socialistic the bill of minority leader Williams providing for the utilization of the treasury surplus in the construction and improvement of roads in several states.

With the agricultural bill out of the way, the Democrats under the leadership of Mr. Williams conducted a filibuster against the transaction of any further business. After forcing 13 roll calls and exhausting their parliamentary resources in employment of dilatory tactics, the Democrats found themselves worsted in the struggle, the majority side at 10:09 o'clock carrying a motion to adjourn by the vote of 121 to 81.

The legislative session of the senate was largely consumed by discussion, without passage of a bill to reorganize the public school system in the District of Columbia by placing it under the control of a director appointed by the national commissioner of education. The bill relating to the settlement of claims of states on account of the disposition of public lands was again taken up and the Bacon amendment for settling the accounts of owners of cotton seized by the government during the civil war, amounting to $5,000,000 was considered, but without results either on the bill or the amendment.

In executive session the senate confirmed the appointments of David Jayne Hill as ambassador to Germany, Spencer F. Eddy as minister to Argentina and Arthur M. Beaupre as minister to the Netherlands.

THE COAL INDUSTRY

The yellow journals of the country are attempting to stir up a sensation, just now, over the fact that the miners in the soft coal districts are temporarily idle, and the announcement is made, in glaring headlines, that 250,000 miners are on a strike.

The statement is absolutely false. Coal-mining, unlike almost any other industry, is done by contract, and the men have just completed a contract, made three years ago. They are out of work today because the contract has expired.

The coal operators have made no effort, as yet, to make another contract, and there will be no more coal mined, until this is done. Just what they are waiting for is not known, but the chances are that there is an overstock of coal on hand.

The railroads of the country are the heaviest buyers of bituminous coal. When the strike occurred three years ago, it found the roads with no stock on hand, and for months the business was crippled for lack of fuel.

Conditions are different today, however, for the railroads have profited by experience and for the past year they have been laying in stocks of coal. Many of them have a six months' stock on hand. They are temporarily out of the market, and with thousands of idle engines, they are in no hurry to make new fuel contracts.

The coal operators work largely on orders. When a mine gets out 5000 tons of coal it is sold as soon as ready for shipment. Today the orders are not coming in, and for this reason they are in no hurry to make a new contract with the miners.

The men are not on a strike. They are simply out of work, because there is nothing for them to do. When the operators are ready to submit a new contract, they may not be willing to accept it, but there is no strike about it.

This is a poor year to talk about strikes, in any line of work. The country has not yet recovered from the panic, and while money is plenty, business has by no means assumed normal conditions.

The supply of men is far in excess of the demand, and the striker will find a man at his elbow ready to take his job at reduced rates, if need be.

THE CITY PARK

The people of Janesville will have an opportunity, next Tuesday, to vote on the question of another public park. There is some opposition to the movement on the part of a limited number of taxpayers, but the plan is generally endorsed and will doubtless carry.

The property selected is well located and when improved will prove a most desirable acquisition to the city's assets, for a good park is as much of an asset, as good streets or any other public improvement.

There are many things connected with a city along the line of beautifying, which are the result of individual effort. Good houses and attractive grounds contribute everything to the appearance of a street, and enhance the value of adjacent property, but a city is never at its best until by united effort it is well equipped with sewage, parks, and other betterments.

Janesville has been slow to recognize the importance of this class of permanent improvements and the people are to be congratulated on the disposition now shown along these lines.

The Park and Pleasure Drive association is entitled to much credit for setting the ball in motion, and stimulating ambition which has long been dormant. Whatever may be accomplished by this association, will be largely the result of individual effort, but the people will enjoy the result of its labors.

The new park will belong to no association, but will be the property of the city. Every taxpayer will have a proprietary interest in it, and it will contribute indirectly to every dollar's worth of real estate within the city limits.

Janesville may never be noted for a great manufacturing center, but it is possible to make it famous for "the city beautiful." A vote for the new park means a desire to lend a hand in aiding the good work.

This three-cornered fight for the supreme judgeship waxes warm. The Barnes men claim the election by virtue of the support of the La Follette faction, the Bashford managers think their man certain because of the Davidson support, and William Ruger receives letters of encouragement from all over the state. It will be worth watching.

There is but one ward contest in Janesville at next Tuesday's election. That is between Baumann and Buchholz in the second ward. Buchholz is the present alderman and has the prestige of the office behind him while Baumann has served one term. It promises to be the only contest worth noticing.

Sherbie Hecker is remarkably quiet in Milwaukee considering the amount of noise he made two years ago. It looks as though Pringle was the man to win this year, despite the fact that "silver-tongued" Dave is again in the field.

The question of electing the republican delegates to the national convention is causing some politicians lots of worry and loss of sleep. The picking of four names from the list of eight for delegates at large promises to add confusion to the matter.

The battle royal which the Beloit newspapers are waging against each other is amusing. Column after column of space is devoted each evening to calling the other all the hard names they can think of and daring them to stand up and fight square.

That Mitchell Park property would be an ideal spot for a park and the voters should appreciate the fact. Think of the advertisement it would be to the city when viewed by strangers stopping off for an hour or two?

Is it possible that Mrs. Harry Thaw has been reverting to her old habits and as such has become objectionable to the New York Hotel keepers? If so, she must have done something awful.

There are people who still believe the columns of a reputable newspaper can be bought. There may be some that can, but they are few and far between. Newspapers tell the truth and print the news.

Taft is in Chicago and from the program arranged he has not had time to sleep or change his clothes, let alone take a "quiet one" on the side.

Janesville has added another factory to its list of growing industries and still other applications are on file for removals from other towns to this city.

There is a Chicago man who recently won his suit that he need not pay for his wife's extravagances.

So the Vanderbilts must follow the Gould's and have a few sensational divorces in their family history.

This question of delaying cleaning your back yards is one which may later develop contagion.

Madison is not disturbed in the least by the talk of a minister being elected Mayor.

Chicago is still forging to the front as a royal entertainer.

Janesville's boom has begun and no one can say stop to it.

Evans Begins Taking Baths.

Paso Robles Hot Springs, Cal., Apr. 3.—Admiral Robley D. Evans began his treatment Thursday, being wheeled to the baths in a chair. He has planned to take a bath and treatment every morning, spending the rest of the day in the sun as much as possible.

Destructive Fire in London, Ont.

London, Ont., Apr. 3.—Hobbs glass works were destroyed by fire Thursday night. Adjoining buildings were damaged. The total loss will reach $300,000, 80 per cent. of which is covered by insurance.

Haggin's Mares Are Burned.

Lexington, Ky., Apr. 3.—The barn on the Elmendorf farm, owned by J. B. Haggin, burned Thursday night and 33 mares and 11 colts were destroyed.

Practical Instruction.

While Dr. D. C. Brown was explaining to the students of the Danbury (Conn.) high school methods of restoring a person who had fainted, a student in the rear of the hall suddenly fell to the floor in a swoon. The physician immediately suspended his talk and gave his audience a practical illustration of the subject under discussion.

J. E. WATSON HEADS INDIANA'S TICKET

NOMINATION FOR GOVERNOR BY THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

FAIRBANKS IS INDORSED

Thirty Delegates to National Convention Instructed for Him—Nebraska Bryanites Threaten Bolt at St. Louis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Apr. 3.—The Indiana Republican state convention Thursday adopted a platform, indorsed Vice-President Fairbanks and instructed the 30 state delegates to the national convention at Chicago to vote and work for his nomination for the presidency, and nominated the following ticket:

For governor, James E. Watson, Rushville; for lieutenant governor, Fremont C. Goodwine, Williamsport; for secretary of state, Fred A. Sims, Frankfort; for auditor of state, John C. Billheimer, Washington; for treasurer of state, Oscar Hadley, Plainfield; for attorney general, James Bingham, Muncie; for reporter of supreme court, George W. Self, Corydon; for superintendent of public instruction, Lawrence McTurnan, Anderson; for state statistician, J. L. Peets, Kokomo; for judge supreme court, Fifth district, Quincy A. Myers, Logansport; for judge appellate court, First district, David Myers, Greensburg.

Five Ballots on Governor.

Six of the nominations were by acclamation, as the candidates were the present Republican state officials and were conceded a second term without opposition. The contest for governor was eager and it took five ballots to decide it.

Mention of President Roosevelt, Vice-President Fairbanks, the names of the two United States senators from Indiana and of Gov. J. Frank Hanly brought from the delegates bursts of enthusiasm. The convention was one of the largest and liveliest ever held in the state.

The platform incorporated a plank written by Vice-President Fairbanks insisting upon a revision of the tariff by a session of congress to be called in November after the fall elections.

Bryanites Still Fighting.

St. Louis, Apr. 3.—The Nebraska delegation, which is here trying to secure a postponement of the Populist national convention in the interests of W. J. Bryan, made no progress Thursday, after two sessions were held, at the conclusion of which a permanent organization had not been effected. The fight is still on undiminished and the friends of Bryan will continue their efforts when the convention reassembles.

Extremism.

"Some men," said Uncle Eben, "is so skeered o' hidin' dere light under a bushel dat dey goes to de opposite extreme an' burns de candle at both ends."—Washington Star.

Gladstone's Thrift.

Gladstone's liberality . . . was very great, and was curiously accompanied by his love of small economies—his determination to have the proper discount taken off the price of his second-hand books, his horror of a wasted half sheet of note paper, which almost equaled his detestation of a wasted minute.—Recollections of Sir Algernon West.

Not Drifting

There is such a thing as drifting in business and professional life. Just loafing along day by day, taking things as they come. Such a course does not get a man anywhere except nearer to the Poorhouse. Dr. Richards in his Dental work is not a drifter.

He has a definite Policy.

He works towards an end.

That end is

To please his every patient just a little better than his competitors.

Does this policy win?

The facts are, his Dental practice has grown during the last seven years until he has by far the largest Dental business in Janesville.

Good work will win out.

Vigilant effort to avoid hurting also wins out.

Reasonable prices ought to appeal to your better judgment also.

Try him for your next Dental work, and you too will be convinced that he Makes Good.

the three-quarter sleeves. A small batiste lace collar contrasts well with the colored embroidery.

Plain Broadcloth.

A handsome tailor suit is of gray broadcloth, with a stitched silk band on the skirt. Long coat trimmed solely by large buttons—eight on each side—back seam, and at the cutaway front, a flap of the material is turned up and attached to the front by three large buttons. Sleeves are quite full at the top, and the neck is adorned by a black silk collar, edged by gilt braid, and a gilt spray is in each corner.

Matching Effects.

Madam La Mode lays great stress upon matching effects in costumes this season, hence it is essential that the details of the costume should exactly correspond either with the suit or with its trimmings. A perfectly matched glove of fine quality gives just the right air to a woman's costume. Every conceivable tint of the newest colorings is to be had in this brand and one is sure that the cut, style, material and finish is perfection if the glove bears the stamp of the famous French maker. Sixteen button "Gora" styles or one button with Paris points are correct with walking costumes of the tailored sort, while the lighter weight kids in the sixteen button length in yellow, mauve, Copenhagen or resedas match more pretentious gowns.

Millinery.

Easter millinery presents extremes of eccentricity and beauty. A beautiful style is to cover a large, white hat with a forest of white malinette, entirely concealing the crown and brim save a narrow edge. In one example of this kind, a blue band of pale yellow velvet is attached to the malinette, with bow and ends at one side. A full Bird of Paradise plume is at one side, and the brim is lined by white satin. A pinkish lavender hemp hat has a broad ostrich feather band around the crown, finished by a long pinkish feather. Cluster of lavender velvet at one side.

Tam Crowns.

The largest "Tam" crown is in full force, and on a Neapolitan sailor, the crown is of hand-painted satin, with pale blue satin ribbon twisted around the crown. Two large pink roses and maidenhair ferns are at the side. A pyramid effect is attained by trailing sprays of sweet peas and wistaria in four shades fastened at the top of a high-crowned hat, and falling over crown and brim. Blue velvet is knotted at the side, and a pale yellow and pink rose give finish.

FANNIE FIELD.

Gathering Galax Leaves.

Galax leaves are packed in bunches of 25 each and sold to florists in cities. They sell in Mount Airy, Md., for 25 cents for 3,000 leaves. Women and children often make one dollar and $1.50 a day gathering them in the mountains of Maryland.

Site of Ancient Battlefield.

A complete skeleton, with an arrow embedded in it, has been found on the Downs near Hailsham, Sussex, Eng. There are long trenches of bones, and experts say that a battle was fought there at the time of the Norman invasion 840 years ago.

Easter Styles

All the leading modistes having returned from the fashion mart of the world, openings succeed each other with rapidity, consequently the fermentation of spring fashions is at its height. The French dressmakers have succeeded in forcing long skirts upon the Americans, that is to say for dressy tailor suits, but the walking skirt resists all attacks, and remains a comfortable length. No change is noticeable in the shape of skirts, although Mme. Paquin has sent over (a as trial) a very narrow draped broadcloth skirt, with cutaway jacket, butterfly sleeves, and stitched tabs at the back, with two very large, cloth covered buttons, giving a decidedly Empire effect.

Another Paquin Jacket.

A second broadcloth jacket from the same artist, has long, narrow sleeves, the fronts cut away just below the bust line, and the skirt slashed in the side seams of the back each trimmed by three silver buttons. Three similar buttons are at the front and two in each sleeve. Small revers and lace chemisette, give finish. Jackets and their various trimmings will furnish novelty, although the "hitched up" appearance in the back, consequent upon the Empire style, is by no means graceful.

Imported Gowns.

In this class of costume, style and the reputation of the artist come high, as a three-piece street dress of checked white and black serge, is marked at over $200. The skirt has a double box plait at the front, with a row of medium-sized buttons, covered with the material, at the center of the plait, a little over an inch apart. The coat is semifitted, and knee-depth, trimmed down the side seams at the back by rows of buttons. A narrow vest is of green and white striped satin combined with embroidery. The figured lace waist has a broad band down the front of Irish lace, with satin and silk embroidery and around the neck is similar ornamentation. A checked sling in Japanese fashion is around the arm-hole, and satin, lace and embroidery finish

EXPLAIN PURPOSE OF THE ROAD LAW

WHAT STATE LAW WILL DO FOR TOWNSHIP.

HOW TAXATION WORKS

County Roads Must be Kept Up at The County's Expense.

Quite a number of people have the mistaken idea that the county board is responsible for the new road making laws, and the county dudes get their "roasting good and proper." This display of ignorance on part of the would be critics has no weight with the better informed, but it does tend to create a sentiment antagonistic to laws that are intended to and will be of much benefit to the very ones who oppose them. All these laws are statutory laws enacted by the legislature and applicable to the whole state, and the county government had nothing whatever to do with their enactment.

In several towns that have for years raised a money tax for the purpose of building gravel roads and now have much better roads than neighboring towns where the labor tax has been in vogue, an impression prevails that this county aid system will be to their disadvantage, compelling them to aid other towns that have spent less money and been more slack in their road improvement.

The fact is, the towns that have miles of fairly good gravelled roads are in a position to avail themselves of the full benefit of the road laws at much less expense than those that have lagged behind under the old and unsatisfactory labor tax system.

In the town of Milton, to illustrate, much of the prospective county highways laid out through that town can be made into acceptable county roads at less than half the cost of building an equally good gravel road where little or no practical road work has been done. And the town that can turn over to the county two miles of roads at a cost to the town of no more than it will cost some other town for one mile, is not "up against it" very much.

Now every mile of road turned over to the county becomes a county charge and must be maintained by the county.

A fund is already in the county treasury for that purpose (see section 1311-13) and the county commissioner will see that the county roads are maintained and kept in proper repair.

Every mile of road turned over to the county decreases the road mileage that the town has to maintain and makes the town road tax available for improvement of the minor roads of the town; not only that, but it will be the main traveled highways through the town that will first become county roads. The more travel on the road the more wear, and the more wear the greater cost of maintenance; hence it is plain that the town will be relieved of the most expensive roads first, and the towns that can turn over the most roads will be ahead and should realize that they are reaping the reward of the good road work done in previous years. Bear in mind that when these roads are turned over to the county, about one half of the cost of maintenance is borne by the cities of the county, yet strange to say, it is mostly rural citizens that object to this new arrangement of good road work.

Many have expressed a fear that if they raise a money tax all their road tax will be expended on the prospective county roads and the less important roads in the town will be neglected. The towns that have graveled their roads have undoubtedly endeavored to put their work where it would benefit the most of the taxpayers and consequently the main traveled roads have received the bulk of the appropriations. If the town wants to put six hundred dollars worth of gravel on a piece of road they can take three hundred dollars of their own money and call for the same amount from the county, and with county aid the three hundred dollars of town money will do as much graveling as they previously got for six hundred, and they will have the other three hundred dollars to spend on other roads in the town.

GOLDEN WEDDING AT KNOFF HOME

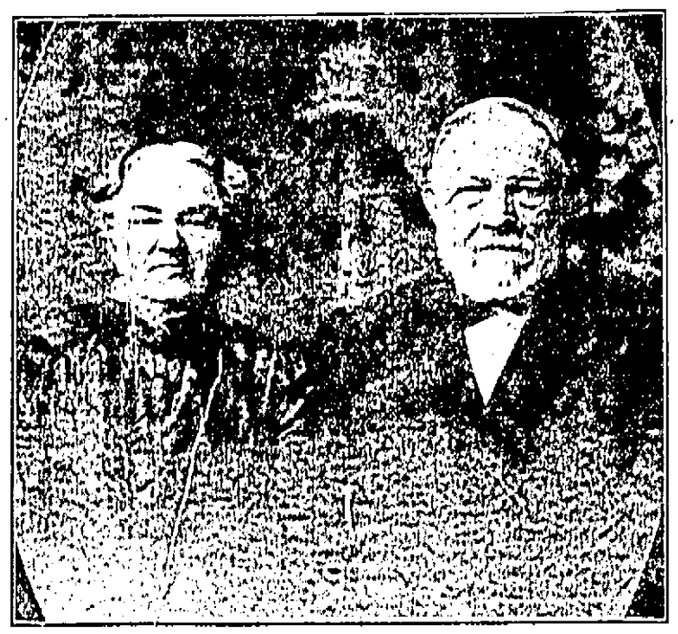

MARRIED FIFTY YEARS TOMORROW—OLD RESIDENTS OF CITY.

PROMINENT IN EARLY DAY

Came to Janesville Soon After Marriage—Have Made Their Home Here Ever Since.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Knoff 408 West Bluff street, will observe tomorrow their golden wedding anniversary. They were married in Chicago, April 4, 1858, and soon came to Janesville, where they have resided ever since. During the half-century that they have lived in Janesville, great changes have taken place. Fifty years ago southern Wisconsin was the great wheat producing country and the grain business was the chief element of the commercial life of the section. In those days the busiest place in Janesville, particularly when the grain was moving, was the "Corn Exchange," a quaint little masonary building with wagon scales, situated where the fountain is now on West Milwaukee street. With the decline of the power of the soil to produce wheat the economic and industrial life of southern Wisconsin was revolutionized. Forty years ago Mr. Knoff was engaged in the wheat business, in the old "steam elevator" which occupied the ground where now stands the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul passenger station. For a dozen years he was with the late J. S. Draper, whose old red elevator at the North Jackson street railroad crossing was torn down about 15 years ago. For some 15 years Mr. Knoff was foreman of the elevator of the firm of Bump & Gray, later changed to H. Bump & Son. The members of this firm have both died, old Hiram Bump passing at a venerable age and his son, P. H. Bump, dying about 12 years ago in the prime of life.

Mr. Knoff was born in Bernstadt, Prussia, 76 years ago and came to America when a boy of 16 years. Mrs. Knoff was born in Dresden, Saxony, 72 years ago yesterday. She came to this country when 19 years old. They are, members of the first Congregational church of Janesville of many years' standing, Mrs. Knoff affiliating with that congregation more than 40 years ago. They have five children living of a family of eight. Two daughters, Mrs. George Harlow and Mrs. George Berett, reside in Chicago. Richard and Herman are in Wyoming and Robert is a newspaper man in Madison. Some of these, together with four granddaughters, will be here tomorrow at the anniversary.

MR. AND MRS. HERMAN A. KNOFF.

ROSE EXPERT IS HERE TO BUILD HOT-HOUSE

Charles Wahler Has Arrived from Chicago and Will Superintend Construction Work for Dr. Dwight.

Foundations for the boiler-room having been laid and preparations having been completed for erecting the large hot-houses on the property at the corner of Jackman and East streets, Charles Wahler, who is to have charge of Dr. C. C. Dwight's enterprise, has arrived from Chicago to superintend the balance of the construction work. The graders have nearly finished their work on the four lots and the two large boilers have arrived. Mr. Wahler has had several years of experience in growing roses in one of the largest hothouses in Chicago and will undoubtedly make a success of the local project.

DAVIDSON NAMES THE BIRD AND ARBOR DAY

May 8 is Arbor and Bird Day According to the Governor's Manifesto Today.

Madison, Wis., April 3.—Governor Davidson today issued a proclamation designating Friday, May 8, as Arbor and Bird Day, to be observed by the school children of the state in fitting manner, by the planting of trees, shrubs and vines, and by the holding of appropriate exercises generally.

"It behooves us," says Governor Davidson, "that the youth of our land shall have knowledge of the value of the trees and the birds, and in order that they may become familiar with their purposes and use and their great value to mankind, arbor day has been established. We must teach the children that the flowers, the trees, and the birds have need of their protection and tender care, and this sentiment should be fully cultivated within them.

"To assist in attaining this end, it is recommended that arbor day be observed as largely as possible by the planting of trees, flowers and shrubs at our homes, our school grounds, and our parks, which shall serve to increase their beauty, and foster in the minds of the young a love of nature."

The annual publication of the state department of instruction, called the arbor and bird day annual, was issued yesterday by State Superintendent Cary. The proclamation of the governor on arbor and bird day is printed in the fore part of the book, urging a general observance of the day and impressing the importance and wisdom of planting trees and regarding bird life. A foreword by Assistant State Superintendent Borden and a fine collection of exercises suitable for school observances together with a number of excellent colored and other illustrations make up the volume. The compilation is largely the work of Ole S. Rice, state library clerk.

ARGUMENTS THAT FAVOR PURCHASE

OF THE MITCHELL PROPERTY, FOR A PARK.

OPPORTUNITY IS OFFERED

For the Citizens of Janesville to Secure Valuable Tract of Land at Moderate Cost.

Next Tuesday the voters of Janesville will have an opportunity to vote yes or no on buying the Mitchell property for a park.

Anyone who has given the subject thought must see the necessity of a greater park area for the city of Janesville. RIGHT NOW is the time to make provision for the future in this regard. The present entire park area of the city is but 10 2-10 acres including the Court House park. This means two-thirds of an acre of park land for over a thousand people. It is thus a good thing that some of the people do not take advantage of the parks at all, for otherwise the sign "Standing Room Only" would be necessary.

A comparison of other cities of about equal population to Janesville is of interest in this connection. The data is based upon the government report furnished by Park Statistician G. A. Parker. The city of Janesville expends for park purposes:

From July 1, 1904, to June 30, 1905 . . . . . $1531.70
From July 1, 1905, to June 30, 1906 . . . . . 1127.04
From July 1, 1906, to June 30, 1907 . . . . . 1230.51

This is about one-fourth as much as any other city of our size is expending for park purposes and in some instances one-seventh as much.

Greater park area is needed, Janesville is not doing as much to provide parks as our neighboring cities. Madison has over three acres of park land for every thousand people, and 28 miles of macadam drives, beautified with shrubs and trees.

This is not mere extravagant talk, nor is it carefully prepared buncombe, it is frozen facts, substantiated by the official figures of government experts.

The Mitchell property is the last available piece of land for a park in the Fifth ward. The city needs it, the mayor and common council favor it, the children have asked for it, and the voters should vote for it.

THE MYSTERY

By STEWART EDWARD WHITE
And SAMUEL HOPKINS ADAMS

COPYRIGHT, 1907, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO.

About his wrist flickered a sort of aura of radiance.

"I said I'd like a vacation if convenient.

"'Presently,' he replied. 'There yet remains the guardianship to be perfected. Then to a world astonished and respectful we return. Tonight we celebrate. I play you a rubber of pinochle.'

"We played. With the greatest secret of science resting at our elbows we played. The doctor won. My mind was not strictly on the game. In the morning the doctor sang once more. I shall never hear its like again. Was it a week or a month after that? I cannot remember. I fancy I was excited. Then, too, there was something in the atmosphere about the laboratory. I don't know; imagination possibly. Once we had a little manifestation—the night that the nigger and Slade were terrified by the rock fires. Days of excitement and pleasant work, with the little volcano grumbling more sullenly all the time. I have spent worse days.

"Such indifference as the doctor displayed toward the volcano I have never known. If I ventured to warn him he would assure me that there was no cause for alarm. I think he regarded that little hell's kitchen as merely a feed spout for his vast enterprise. He felt a sort of affection toward it. He was tolerant of its petty fits of temper. That he completed his work before the destruction came was sheer luck—nothing else. The day before the outburst he came to me with a tiny vial of completed design.

"'Percy, I will at a reasonable price sell this to you,' he said.

"'How much?' I inquired, responding to his playfulness.

"'A bargain!' he cried gaily. 'Five millions dollars! No! Shall I upon a needy friend hard press? Never! One million! One little million dollars!'

"'I haven't that amount with me,' I began.

"'Of no account,' he declared airily. 'Soon we shall haf many more times as that. Gif me your C. O. D.'

"'My I O U?' I inquired.

"'It makes no matter. See! I will gif it to you gratis.'

"He handed me the metal contrivance. It was closed.

"'Inside iss a little, such a very little. Not yet iss it arranged the motive power to give forth. One more change to be made that shall require. But the other phenomena are all in this little half grain comprised. Later I shall tell you more. Take it. It iss without price.' He laid his hand on my shoulder. 'Like the love of friends,' he said gently."

Feeling in his upper waistcoat pocket, Darrow brought out a vial, so tiny that it rolled in the palm of his hand. He contemplated it, lost in thought.

"Radium?" queried Barnett, with the keen interest of the scientist.

"God knows what it is!" said Darrow, rousing himself. "Not the perfected product. The doctor said that when he gave it to me. If I could remember one-tenth of what he told me that night! It is like a disordered dream, a phantasmagoria of monstrous powers, lit up with an intolerable, almost an infernal radiance. This much I did gather—that Dr. Schermerhorn had achieved what the greatest minds before him had barely outlined. Yes, and more. Becquerel, the Curies, Rutherford—they were playing with the letters of the Greek alphabet. Alpine, Gamman and Rhon, while the simple, gentle old boy that I served had read the secret. From the molten eruptions of the racked earth he had taken gases and potencies that are nameless. By what methods of combination and refining I do not know, he produced something that was to be the final word of power. Control—control—that was all that lacked.

"Reduced to its simplest terms it meant this: The doctor had something as much greater than radium as radium is greater than the pitchblende of which a thousand tons are melted down to the one ounce of extract. And the incredible energies of this he proposed to divide into departments of activity. One manifestation should be light—a light that would illuminate the world. Another was to make motive power so cheap that the work of the world could be done in an hour out of the day. Some idea he had of healing properties. Yes. He was to cure mankind; or kill, kill as no man had ever killed, did he choose. The armies and navies of the powers would be at his mercy. Magnetism was to be his slave. Aerial navigation, transmutation of metals, the screening of gravity—does this sound like delirium? Sometimes I think it was.

"That night he turned over to me the key of the large chest and his ledger. The latter he bade me read. It was a complete jumble. You have seen it. We were up a good part of the night with our pet volcano. It was suffering from internal disturbances. 'So,' the doctor would say indulgently, when a particularly active rock came bounding down our way. 'Little playmates-to-exhibit now that the work iss finished.'

"In the morning he insisted on my leaving him alone and going down to give the orders. I took the ledger, intending to send it aboard. It saved my life possibly. Solomon's bullet deflected slightly, I think, in passing through the heavy paper. Slade has told you about my flight. I ought to have gone straight up the arroyo, yet I could hardly have made it. I did not see him again—the doctor. My last glimpse—the old man—I remember now how the gray had spread through his beard—he was growing old—it had been aging labor. He stood there at his laboratory door, and the mountain spouted and thundered behind.

"'We will a name to suit properly gif it,' he said as I left him. 'It shall make us as the gods. We will call it celestium.'

"I left him there smiling—smiling happily. The greatest force of his age—if he had lived. Very wise, very simple—a kind old child. May I trouble you for a light? Thanks.

CHAPTER XXXV.

"NOTHING remained but to search for his body. I was sure they had killed him and taken the chest. I had little expectation of finding him, dead or alive. None after I saw the stream of lava pouring into the sea. One saves his own life by instinct, I suppose. There I was. I had to live. It did not matter much, but I continued to do it by various shifts. That last day on the headland the fumes nearly got me. You may have noted the rather excited scrawl in the back of the ledger? Yes, I thought I was going that time, but I got to the cave. It was low tide. Then the earthquake, and I was walled in. Mr. Barnett's very accurate explosives—Slade's insistence—your risking your lives as you did, mites on the crust of a redhot cheese—I hope you know how I feel about it all. One can't thank a man properly for the life—

"Oh, the pirates! Necessarily it must be a matter of theory, but I think we have it right. Slade and I built it up. For what it's worth here it is. Let me see, you sighted the glow on the night of the 2d. Next day came the deserted ship. It must have puzzled you outrageously."

"It did," said Captain Parkinson dryly.

"Not an easy problem even with all the data at hand. You, of course, had none. On Slade's showing, Handy Solomon and his worthy associates thought they had a chest full of riches when they got the doctor's treasure—believed they owned the machinery for making diamonds or gold or what not of ready to hand wealth. It's fair to assume a certain eagerness on their part. Disturbed weather keeps them busy until they're well out from the island. Then to the chest. Opening it isn't so easy. 'I had the key,' you know." He brought a curious and delicately wrought skeleton from his pocket. "Tipped with platinum," he observed. "Rather a gem of a key, I think. You see, there must have been some action even through the keyhole or he wouldn't have used a metal of this kind. But the crew was rich in certain qualities, it seems, which I failed stupidly to recognize in my acquaintance with them. Both Pulz and Perdosa appear to have been handy men where locks were concerned. First Pulz sneaks down and has his turn at the chest. He gets it open. 'Small profit for him in that. The next we know of him he is scandalizing Handy Solomon by having a fit on the deck.'

"That is what I couldn't figure out to save my life," said Slade eagerly.

"If you recollect, I told you of the professor's plunge in the cold spring in a sort of paroxysm one day," said Darrow. "That was the physiological action of the celestium. At other times I have seen him come out and deliberately roll in the creek, head under. Once he explained that the medium he worked in caused a kind of uncontrollable longing for water, something having none of the qualities of burning or thirst, but an irresistible temporary mania. It worried him a good deal. He didn't understand it. That, then, was what ailed Pulz. When he opened the chest there was, as I surmise, a trifling quantity of this stuff lying in the inner lid. It wasn't the celestium itself, as I imagine, but a sort of byproduct with the physiological and radiant effects of the real thing, and it had been set there on guard, a discouragement to the spirit of investigation, as it were. So when the top was lifted our little guardian gets in its work, producing the light phenomenon that so puzzled Slade and inspiring Pulz with a passion for the rolling wave, which is only interrupted by Handy Solomon's tackling him. As he fled he must have pulled down the cover."

"He did," said Slade. "I heard the clang. But I saw the radiance on the clouds, and the whole thickness of a solid oak deck was in between the sky and the chest."

"Oh, a little thing like an oak deck wouldn't interrupt the kind of rays the doctor used. He had his own method of screening, you understand. However, this inconsiderable guardian affair must have used itself up, which true celestium wouldn't have done. So when Perdosa sets his genius for lock picking to the task the inner box, full of the genuine article, has no warning signpost, so to speak. Everything's peaceful until they raise the compound filled hollow layer of the inner cover, which serves to interrupt the action. Then comes the general exit and the superior fireworks."

"That's when the rays ran through the ship," said Slade. "It seemed to follow the deck lines."

"The stuff had a strange affinity for tar," said Darrow. "I told you of the circle of fire about Professor Schermerhorn's waist the day he gave me such a scare. That was the celestium working on the tarred rope he wore for a belt. It made a livid circle on his skin. Did I tell you of his experiments with pitch? It doesn't matter. Where was I?"

"At the place where we all jumped," said Slade.

"Oh, yes. And you dove into the small boat, trying to reach the water."

"Wait a bit," said Barnett. "If that was the exhibition of radiance we saw, it died out in a few minutes. How was that? Did they close the chest before they ran?"

"Probably not," replied Darrow. "Slade spoke of Pulz taking to the maintop and being shaken out by the sudden shock of a wave. That may have been a volcanic billow. Whatever it was, it undoubtedly heeled the ship sufficiently to bring down both lids, which were rather delicately balanced."

STUDENTS OUT ON STRIKE

Trouble Caused By Suspension of One Following Ducking of Freshman Who Violated "Rules."

New York, Apr. 3.—New York university students went "on strike" Thursday as a result of the temporary suspension by the faculty of Albert Young, president of the junior class, following investigation of the ducking in the college "horse trough" of Harry Bloch, a freshman.

The boys were notified officially by the faculty's committee on discipline that the body of students must return first to their classes as a preliminary to a complete adjustment of the present difficulty.

When the students had received the faculty's communication they announced that it would be considered at a meeting to be held at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning, when the further attitude of the student body will be determined.

Harry Bloch, who had spent much of the day with his attorney, issued a statement through counsel in which he admitted that he had been in the wrong. He added that while he felt he had been sufficiently punished, he was willing to submit to any further correction that the student cabinet might deem wise to administer. This statement served somewhat to clear the atmosphere.

The violations of unwritten student law charged against Bloch are summarized as follows: Would not rub down the members of the 'varsity teams, as all good freshmen are supposed to do; wore violet colored ties, same being the college color and a privilege no freshman is allowed; sat on the steps of the library, where no "freshies" are supposed to rest.

BLOOD POISON

HUMILIATING-VILE-DESTRUCTIVE

The first symptom of Contagious Blood Poison is usually a little sore or ulcer, which is quickly followed by a red rash on the skin, swollen glands in the groin, falling hair, ulcerated mouth and throat, and often copper colored splotches on different parts of the body. As the blood becomes more fully contaminated with the poison, pustular eruptions and sores break out on the flesh, and in extreme cases the nerves and bones are attacked and the finger nails drop off. Then the sufferers find themselves diseased from head to foot with this humiliating, vile and destructive poison. No other disease is so highly contagious; many an innocent person has been inoculated by handling the clothing or using the toilet articles of an infected person. There is but one certain, reliable cure for Contagious Blood Poison, and that is S. S. S. It attacks the disease in the right way by going down into the circulation, and neutralizing and forcing out every particle of the poison. It makes the blood pure and rich, tones up the system, and completely and permanently cures this disease. S. S. S. has cured thousands of cases of Contagious Blood Poison. If you are suffering with this debasing and destructive disease begin the use of S. S. S. and get the poison out of your blood before it permanently wrecks your health. We have a home treatment book on the disease which we will send free to all who wish it, and in addition our physicians will give without charge any medical advice needed.

Dining Railroad Car—Another step in the way of railway improvements has been accomplished. The new idea may be stated as an arrangement by which a passenger train picks up a dining room complete in all its appointments with a capacity equal to the wants of all on the train, who, without detention, scrambling or haste, obtain a regular hotel meal when the traveling dining room is dropped and refitted in readiness for the returning train.

Washington, D. C., Apr. 3.—The taking of evidence to support the articles of impeachment continued throughout the day. The Senate adjourned at five o'clock in the afternoon.

London, April 3.—A division takes place tonight in the House of Commons on the Irish question.

The Liberals are certain that the government will be beaten, and believe a Liberal cabinet is certain. The course of the ministry is as yet uncertain, however, they have the option of resigning or appealing to the people by the dissolution of Parliament. The position if the new ministry is also uncertain in case of one coming into power.

New York, April 3.—The Tribune editorially states: We have assurances from Washington that Grant finds it not inconsistent with his duty as a soldier to announce as his opinion that the only hope for the peace of the country is the success of the pending impeachment trial. He feels that the national security demands the removal of the President.

AT THE PLAY HOUSES.

"A Pair of Country Kids."

The above play will be presented for the second time in this city next Saturday, April 4, matinee and evening, at the Myers Theatre, and lovers of a truly first-class rural comedy will be well paid to attend and witness a metropolitan production at popular prices. Scenery complete for each act is carried and the novelities are the great wharf scene, Boston, and a realistic explosion and fire in a deserted box factory—and there is no play before the public today that possesses deviation from the custom of other "Uncle Tom" managers who interpolate so many attempted gags, stale jokes and vulgar witticisms into their rendition that scarcely a vestige is left of the never-to-be-forgotten work. The excellent company's two Topsies, two Ikelorus Marks, the excellent scenery, the novel mechanical effects, the ferocious bloodhounds, two brass bands, and the celebrated Lone Star Quartette, will all unite in making the engagement a most notable one.

H. KELCEY, STARRING THIS SEASON WITH EFFIE SHANNON IN "THE WALLS OF JERICHO"

"The Walls of Jericho."

In offering Herbert Kelcey and Effie Shannon to succeed Mr. Hackett and Miss Mannering, Ernest Shipman has chosen two of the most capable artists to portray the leading parts in "The Walls of Jericho," at Myers Theatre, Tuesday evening, April 7.

"The Walls of Jericho," which has been accepted as one of the most interesting dramas written in years, is by Alfred Sutro. In his writing Mr. Sutro has differed from his many predecessors who have found subjects for the drama in modern English society to the extent that he has neither been flippant or unduly exaggerated. He has taken the possible case of an Australian millionaire married for his money and paying the price. He shows the derogatory effect of the highly artificial life of the "smart set" on the sturdy character of a man who has lived in the open air and fought his way to fortune, known to his fellows as a fighter. He is captured by the daughter of an impecunious Marquis. She has loved another, but she has been willing to marry Jack Frobisher for his great wealth. In time she comes to like him better than any of the other men in her set; but she is not adverse to flirting, even with the man whom she had loved. After the birth of her child Lady Alethea continues to her frivolous occupations. She plays bridge and loses heavily. Balls, parties and dinners take up her nights. A few minutes a day and hardly another thought are given to the boy. Jack Frobisher does not dance and he does not play bridge, so he is rather an unhappy figure in society, with his ridiculous plans to better the housing of the poor. But the tide turns. The man's fighting qualities reassert themselves. He becomes master of himself and repudiates the cynical old Marquis. He resolves to return to Queensland to escape from the artificial life of London, and to take his boy with him, when Lady Alethea refuses to accompany him. A solution is found for the complication. Husband and wife are united and Jack Frobisher wins in the contest. This is but a brief indication of the course of an extraordinarily interesting play.

Continuous Coughing.

Just as the value of some new uncommon mechanical device is first called into question without trial, so our remedy was first doubted and decried by those who thought they knew.

Naturally there have been "Doubting Thomases" who, clad in armor of old and rusty theories about medicines, have refused to believe that there could possibly be any improvement on the old doctrine. But progress never comes without opposition. It would have been unnatural if the force and power of our proof and magnetism of our success had not captured their reason and forced the doubters to revise their antique ideas about cough medicines. So we hold before you the remedy for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough and Croup—our remedy, the successful remedy. It is called Dr. Gun's Cough Remedy.

It is pleasant to take, absolutely harmless in every respect, and as far as its effective results are concerned, words fail to express the relief that will be obtained from the first dose.

However severe the cough may be, if taken according to directions Dr. Gun's Cough Remedy will not disappoint you. Of course, every case is different and needs a different length of time for a cure; but the patient may rest secure in the assurance that as long as he is faithful to the treatment he can be completely relieved

Try Dr. Gun's Cough Remedy; we say it is par excellence—the most thorough, rapid and effective treatment ever prepared for Colds, Coughs, Croup and Whooping Cough and we say it because of the results obtained from its use. "There is no remedy "just as good." When a druggist says so he is thinking of his profit, and not of your welfare. It is a household necessity; look for picture of "Gun" on front and back of each package.

Recommended When-ever Used.

Baraga Store Co., Baraga, Mich., says—"Dr. Gun's Cough Remedy gives splendid satisfaction to our trade and where once tried in a family its constant use is an assured fact. Please send us four dozen each size."

D. H. Mallery, Amboy, Minn., says—Dr. Gun's Cough Remedy gives the best satisfaction of any cough remedy I ever handled.

HOW HE HAS MADE A SUCCESS

L. T. Cooper Tells Chicago Reporter Why He Accomplishes So Much.

No man in recent years has been more successful in restoring human health than L. T. Cooper. During his stay in Chicago, and while he was meeting thousands of people daily, he gave the following reason for the remarkable demand for his medicine to a reporter:

Mr. Cooper said: "My New Discovery is successful because it corrects the stomach. My theory is that few can be sick if the digestive apparatus is working properly. It naturally follows that few can be well with a poor digestion.

"I know from experience that most of the tired, half-sick people that are so common now-a-days have half-sick stomachs. Put the stomach in shape, and nature does the rest. The result is general good health. My medicine does this. That is why fifty thousand people here in Chicago are using it who never heard of me until a month ago."

Among the fifty thousand mentioned by Mr. Cooper who used his medicine in Chicago is Mrs. Hilda Pflueger, living at 1203 Ainslie Avenue. This is the statement she makes concerning her experience with the medicine:

"I have been sick for six years with stomach trouble. I was always hungry, but did not dare to eat much, as I had severe pains in my stomach, and also through my body. I could not sleep at night and was very restless. I was also very nervous, and would have severe headaches. I was constipated, and always felt bloated after eating.

"I had tried many remedies, but could secure no relief, until one day I noticed in the newspapers what wonderful results Cooper's medicines were accomplishing in Chicago. I decided to try them, and shortly after commencing the treatment I began to feel better. I did not have those severe pains in my stomach, and I could sleep at night; my appetite improved, and I can now eat well. I am feeling like a new woman.

"I am very thankful to Mr. Cooper for what his remedies have done for me. They have restored me to good health, and I would advise any one who suffers as I did to try them."

We sell the Cooper medicines. They are easily the most celebrated preparations ever introduced in this country, growing in popularity daily. —E. B. Helmstreet.
